News from the Village Hall

Children's Halloween Party

As usual, the Village Hall is putting on a party for children on Thursday 31st October. All children – with parents and carers – are invited to come to the hall for a snack, drink and spooky games with the "Garthorpe Witch". For many families, this will be after doing "Trick or Treat" around the village; fancy dress is definitely encouraged and there will be a bar and refreshments for parents and others. Doors open at 6pm and the cost is £2.50 per child.

"The King Has Swing" – 23rd November

…."stunning powerhouse vocals"….." a one man Elvis experience"…."the wow factor"….

These are just some of the things that have been said about Lee Newsome – and he is coming to the Village Hall. "The King has Swing" is a one-man tribute to the swing era of the 50s and 60s with rave reviews from other venues and a substantial following in the UK and elsewhere.

Book now for the 23rd of November. Details are on the hall's Facebook page (there is a QR code for tickets) or you can call 07375 505904. There will be a bar (in aid of the village hall), doors open at 7 and the show starts at 8.30.

Night out, close to home, supporting the village hall… What's not to like?

New kitchen – making progress

The builders are cracking on and things are taking shape (literally). It will be good to have a spacious kitchen where volunteers or hirers can work together in comfort.

There have of course been some hiccups. Many apologies to the hirers who had to do without heating. Big thanks to our amazing in-village boiler engineer Mark, of IGS North Limited, and to Sammie Simms for all the work done to get this sorted.

Village Poppies

You may have noticed a lot more poppies on lampposts and gates this year. The old wooden ones needed to be replacing due to age and weathering as they have been used over the years, Ron Gilleard has always volunteered to put up the poppies up and suggested that they perhaps needed replacing with a sustainable option that was affordable. We looked at funding but decided that we would test the water by a quick message on Whats App to see what the interest was and sourced a plastic red poppy on RBL online for £5.00each. These can be used year after year.

Absolutely blown away by the response. So many people were very happy to participate and buy, we ordered 34 for private individuals then the rest were for St Mary's, Village Hall, and 4 entrances to the village. The rest were in Shore Road, High Street & Fockerby.

Many of the private sales offered a donation for RBL. £80.00 was raised, which is a fabulous amount, and has been donated.

Thank you to everyone who participated. Hopefully we will be able to get more with some funding from the micro grant via the Parish Council, full update next month.

Thanks to Ron & Carol for driving this forward.

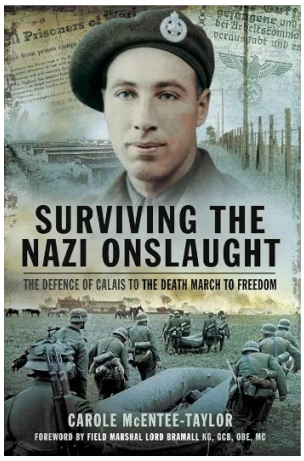
CaroleMcT Books

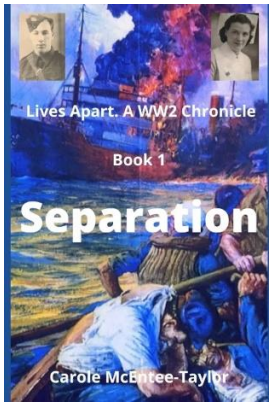
Hi everyone, I'm Carole McEntee-Taylor, I live in The Old Plough Inn with my husband David and I'm an author of military history, historical fiction, memoirs and spiritual books. I also publish books for other people. All books are available in print and eBook format from Amazon & other online retailers or can be ordered from the library. For more information please see: https://carolemctbooks.info/

Sue has kindly asked me to include something about my books in each newsletter so where better to start than at the beginning.

I'd always been fascinated by WW2, but I became completely hooked after discovering that my father-in-law, David's father, Ted Taylor, was a real-life WW2 hero. Captured by the Germans in Calais in May 1940 after intense fighting, Ted spent five years as a POW in Poland enduring forced labour on various farms, factories, salt mines and in Majdanek concentration camp before surviving the horrors of the death march back across Europe in the winter and spring of 1945. Surviving the Nazi Onslaught tells Ted's story.



But it didn't stop there. I was even more captivated by his story when I learnt that my mother-in-law, Brenda, who sadly died before I met David, was Ted's fiancée in 1940. Brenda tended the wounded after the evacuation of Dunkirk and then nursed in London during the Blitz and throughout the war. We know how long the war lasted and we know the outcome, but in the dark days of the 1940s no one knew what would happen. Despite this Brenda waited for Ted to come back home to her. Even more astonishing Ted wrote a note to his mother after he'd been captured which was somehow smuggled out of occupied France and reached her several weeks before she was told officially that he was a POW. This fired my imagination and led to Lives Apart. A WW2 Chronicle - a five-part series which combines Ted and Brenda's true stories with an element of fiction. Separation is book 1



I am still planning to write the updated version of a history of Garthorpe and Fockerby and finish my new series The Eagle Quartet, the sequel to Secret Lives, but I'm currently having a break because David has been diagnosed with prostate cancer and although the prognosis is good my heart is not really in writing at the moment. I'm not telling you something as personal as this to elicit sympathy, but because David and I would like to encourage men aged 50 and over to get checked out asap. Early diagnosis could save your life. https://prostatecanceruk.org/risk-checker?gad_source=1&gclid=CjwKCAjwvKi4BhABEiwAH2gcwyZRDJP32tEN3DFLTYVO9Y6Tdy7fSk78n_4oKNa2xpE8-15QMabhTRoCeccQAvD_BwE&gclsrc=aw

Fockerby girl with a racing dream

We started following Eleanor Shelby (aka ESP racing) on her racing dream. She is a 7year old girl, who one day just decided she'd love to race in Motorsport and one day become an F1 driver. Hopefully we can follow her every month on her journey. Eleanor is trying out new tracks regularly now in view of getting ready for racing next year.

She has been accepted by the racing team TomDayRacing. Eleanor took 10 seconds off her lap time at Tattershall, which is a massive personal achievement and she also held off a 15 year old in the same class!

This is some going considering she's not even meant to be in this class until she's 8! The race team are happy with her continuous improvement.

She was very hard on herself this weekend. No trophies but was up against a lot more people on track, and the biggest race yet at Fullbeck which is a motorsport UK track.

Eleanor is technically too young to race yet in the kart, and in this class she had to prove herself on the Saturday and Sunday morning. To qualify she must be within 10 % of the lead driver (who was a British motorsport champion). She not only proved her worth, but also came middle of the pack so out drove half of them.

Eleanor didnt get a trophy which she is upset about but doesn't see the bigger picture that she is an amazing driver for her age and experience level compared with those that have been doing it much longer. She came 9th after the final race out of 13 but had a better pace than some in front off her but just couldn't get passed then which is what held her back , so we are working on race craft more and overtaking next time.

The race team and the people at track were very impressed with her skills and welcome her back for future races despite not being old enough. 😂 Absolutely amazing work Eleanor…

Eleanor's go fund me appeal is still open if you can help. (https://gofund.me/879b2a4f)

Remembrance Sunday

The service will be on Sunday 10.11.24 @ 10.30am,

Message from The Vicar November 2024

Memories have a habit of ambushing us when we least expect it, the sound of a song that reminds us of our first love, the smell of a favourite food that reminds us of home, the object which we associate with a particular time of our life.

These things and many more can trigger memories so strong we are instantly transported back in time as emotions and images come flooding back. Some memories we treasure, and we find ways to preserve them.

For some Remembrance Sunday will always be personal, a time to recall the loss of people we love, when we are reminded of the scars visible or invisible that we carry around as a result of conflict, when we are confronted with actions that still bring with them a sense of guilt and shame or, equally, we are inspired by the dogged determination, loyalty and amazing courage demonstrated by ordinary human beings in the face of adversity and yes, evil.

Remembering plays a vital role in defining our identity, because through our memories we try to make sense of the world around us, we learn from our experience, or at least sometimes we do. There is a certain hopefulness in choosing to remember, an opportunity to look forward to what we might do differently next time.

Can we imagine a Remembrance Sunday where no-one in the congregation had any experience of war? Where there was no-one who knew anyone who had died or been hurt or suffered post-traumatic stress disorder, or watched a marriage disintegrate as a result of conflicts past or present? It would be lovely, wonderful, a blessing.

Every week Christians meet to remember that God once came to earth in human form, to live and love, laugh and cry and die among us. To demonstrate his love for us, to overcome evil and death. We remember that he chose willingly to go to the cross, because it was the only way to reconcile us to God.

The peace we can share with one another each Sunday, the peace of Christ which passes all understanding, is not a cheap peace that cost nothing, but cost everything.

I would suggest that there is no such thing as cheap peace, easy peace, because there is always a cost to achieving peace. Negotiation costs, justice costs. And we must ask ourselves whether we are willing to bear that cost and what it means to ask others to bear it too.

On Remembrance Sunday we remember service men and women, peacekeepers and civilians, in fact all those who have paid, as well as those who continue to pay, that cost on our behalf.

We remember that behind every news story, every statistic, is a human being, a much-loved child of God.

And we promise faithfully not to forget today.

We will remember them.

Amen.

Rev. Mark Zammit (Vicar of Haxey & Owston Ferry)(Priest-in-Charge of The Crowle Group)

Christmas Carol Service

This will be held in church at 4-30pm on 22/12/24.

Annual Giving

The annual giving for St Mary's will start in December. There will be a giving box in church for donations. Donations can be given at a coffee morning or church service as advertised or drop at 2 Church cottages Shore Road

St Mary's is due a Quinquennial inspection. This is a visit from the architect to inspect the building, I have been advised that it will cost between £2,000 - £3,000, which a big chunk out of the Churches savings and not withstanding all the other yearly outgoings. It's absolutely frightening to think of this year's expenditure, could be around £5,500, which is a lot of money.

We will wait to see the recommendations from the architect. Hopefully there won't be a lot that's considered essential work to be carried out.

Coffee Mornings

Village support is always appreciated when a fundraising event is put on., every coffee helps this year!

We would like to thank all the regulars that come and support us at our Coffee Mornings and other fundraising events.

This has generated massive interest and cost is £2.00 and includes kippers, crusty bread tea or coffee. Booking and pre-payment will be essential. Bookings/ payments taken from2/11/24 to 7/12/24. Tel 01724798241 or email David on djgraham62outlook.com.

Concerts in Garthorpe in 2024

The Swinging Blue Jeans Rock Garthorpe Village Hall

Saturday September 21st was a typical grey autumn day, with many turning their heating on. But all that changed at 7.30pm when, direct from playing the Whitby 60's Spectacular the night before, the Swinging Blue Jeans hit the stage and raised the temperature.
Of course they played their own hits such as 'Hippy, Hippy Shake' and 'You're no good', but this was a rock'n'roll show too. Gene Vincent, Carl Perkins, Chuck Berry, the Beatles, it just kept coming.

By the end of the evening virtually the entire audience was up on its feet and dancing. I must mention their roadie and soundman of 40 years, Roger. He packed up in Whitby on Friday night, set up in Garthorpe on Saturday afternoon, then packed up after the show and drove down to Woking. Roger is 94 years old. So it's not about age, it's about enthusiasm for the music and a love of performing it. Of course, none of the band were founder members back in 1958, that doesn't matter.

The spirit lives on and the Swinging Blue Jeans rocked it! If you get a chance to catch them, then do. But wear your dancing shoes. And visit www.livemusicgarthorpe.co.uk for future concerts and help keep music live in rural communities.

Chris Newton

Keith James, the music of Leonard Cohen.
St Marys Church Garthorpe. 20.11.24.

Leonard Cohen, who died in 2016 aged 82, influenced many musicians over the decades. From Fairport Convention to U2, Judy Collins to Nirvana, all have credited 'LC' as having a major influence on their work.
Another to have felt that influence is singer/songwriter Keith James who performed his tribute to Cohen's music in the intimate setting of St Marys. This was the 552nd performance of this show by Keith, over 13 years, and it was easy to see why it is so successful. Keith not only displayed the musicianship we know him for from a previous visit but also showed a deep understanding of Cohen's work. This was not a 'tribute act' but a celebration of his poetry and music delivered with charm &humour.

Keith also performed two works by Andalusian poet Federico Garcia Lorca, himself a major influence on Cohen, who named one of his children Lorca in his honour. One of these poems was set to music by Keith himself.
In summary a fine finish to this year's livemusicgarthorpe season. The enthusiastic assembly enjoyed an excellent concert, I have never known audience participation at Leonard Cohen show.
Perhaps 'sing-along-a-Len' may be the next big thing?

As we complete the programme for 2024., the new one opens up for next year…tickets can be prebooked from now. New programme in next months newsletter.

INCREDIBLE EDIBLE MARSHLAND

October is ending and Halloween and Christmas “wares” are competing with one another in the shops. It seems like the slippery slope to Christmas and all the extra jobs this season brings with it. Since writing to you last month I’ve had a short break in London to celebrate my youngest daughter’s wedding (the plus side) and caught some bug that left me ill in bed for three days and feeling tired out ever since (the downside). So, I was cheered up the other day by some wit & wisdom quotes which really made me chuckle. “Politics is the art and science of running the circus from the monkey cage”. “Art like morality consists in drawing the line somewhere”. “If at first you don’t succeed, then skydiving definitely isn’t for you”.

What has been happening this last month with Incredible Edible Marshland?
Yoga has continued every Monday at Reedness Primary School, 6.30 to 7.30. it continues each Monday now up to and including the 16th December. It remains very popular and we have recruited some new faces over the last few weeks. Fancy a try…? Then just come along and give it a go.
October so far has been a busy month. On Friday 4th October a Watercolour Painting taster session took place led by Peter Scott. All 12 places at this workshop were filled and we even had a waiting list should anyone drop out. The same picture was painted by everyone under the expert tuition and 12 very different painting were produced, all of which leads me to say once again – what a lot of talented people live in the Marshland villages.
This workshop was a taster for a set of 6 workshops tutored by Peter Scott which will take place in the new year from February onwards. Spaces will again be limited so once we advertise, please do book your place to avoid any disappointment.
As usual the Hobby Huddle took place on 2nd Friday of the month at Garthorpe Village Hall (11th October) and as usual was enjoyed by all. Not got a portable hobby or no hobby at all…….. don’t let it stop you coming along for a cuppa and a chat. I am all for brightening up an evening in good company.

On the Saturday following the Hobby Huddle Incredible Edible held a soap making workshop run by a firm called Cosy Cottage. In the 2 hours each attendee made their own soap and "flavoured" it according to taste, being shown in detail the whole process from start to finish. There are now several homes in the area such as mine where their soap is in the stage of being cured and the aroma emitting from it is far better than a scented candle! Cosy Cottage have a slogan – "Soap is to the body as laughter is to the soul". I'm sure my youngest Grandson would agree as he loves water and can spend a long (and messy) time washing his hands with soap suds everywhere.!!

Our gardening session this month was a talk by our Gardening Guru, Ray Creek on the subject of gardening and nature. During the 2 hours he covered every conceivable type of gardening and linked it into the preservation of nature. As always Ray's talks are very interactive so lots of questions were asked and answered during the course of the 2 hours. Some of the subjects covered were lawns, hedges, ponds, flowers, fruit, trees & shrubs, wildlife gardens, companion plants, feeding birds and wildlife and much more. An extremely interesting evening in which all of us took home some information to use in the future.

And as for the rest of the year…….

- Yoga each Monday as mentioned above up to & including 16th December. £5 per session.
- Hobby Huddle on Friday 8th November & Friday 13th December 7pm – 9pm. FREE.
- Willow & Paper Star workshop on Saturday 23rd November 9.30 to 12.30 at Reedness Primary School. Cost £30 – all materials and refreshments provided.
- Cane Stars workshop to be held on Friday 6th December at Swinefleet Village Hall 7pm – 9pm. Cost £20 which also includes all materials and refreshments.
